

To our valued customers;

As expected, as of yesterday the CITT published their recommendations to the Finance Minister regarding the provisional drywall duties.

<http://www.citt.gc.ca/en/node/7901>

We believe that these recommendations are a great step towards reducing the impact of the provisional duties as well as the final tariff but would also remind people that these are only recommendations at this point and the final ruling now lies with the Finance Minister's office. We expect that decision in coming weeks.

The current recommendations also provide little detail in terms of any the proposed items, therefore we have no specific data surrounding what this means from a go forward market pricing stand point.

We hope to have more detail and clarity in coming days and will pass on as soon as made available.

Thank you for your continued loyalty as we work towards a conclusion.
